Municipal News

Thanks to all the community members who attended Myles Rade-man's February 3rd presentation on "Re-thinking Alta." Myles's presentation is available for viewing on the Town's website under the "What's new" tab.

The Town is committed to finding viable traffic solutions. Starting on the weekend of February 14th, the Town Marshal's Office in cooperation with the Salt Lake County Sheriff's Office began metering traffic out of Alta and Snowbird from 3pm-6pm in hopes of reducing the traffic congestion known as the "red snake." Traffic metering will be taking place every Saturday and Sunday through the end of March. Special thanks to Alta Ski Lifts and Snowbird for contributing funds towards this effort.

The 1989 Salt Lake County Wasatch Canyons Masterplan is being updated. Mayor Pollard and John Guldner will be taking part in new planning efforts during the next few years as the plan gets revised.

The Town of Alta submitted an application for $1.4 Million in federal appropriations to install gaz-ex's west of the two located on Mt. Superior. If money is appropriated, up to nine slide paths will be eliminated from overhead fire. These slide paths were selected for their land ownership and terrain suitable for avalanche control with gaz-ex technology. Decisions for federal appropriations will be made late this summer or early fall. (Mt. Superior gaz-ex photo, p.3)

The Brendle Group from Fort Collins, Colorado, will be conducting a greenhouse gas inventory for the Alta community. The inventory will be completed in about 10 weeks and will be available to the members of the community. This will serve as a baseline for energy use and will be helpful for future comparisons. Special thanks to the Friends of Alta and Alta Ski Lifts for contributing money for this study.
